AT KILN

FREE PROGRAMMES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE AGED 12-18 WHO LIVE
OR LEARN IN BRENT

The Youth & Pathways programme aims to develop the next generation of artists, practitioners and audiences in Brent. Young people are given the opportunity to develop their confidence and theatre making skills through workshops and training, as well as performing in live theatre and film productions.

YOUTH THEATRE

Kiln's Youth Theatre provides free weekly sessions for young people aged 12-15 who live or attend school in Brent. Across the programme, participants work with a team of guest artists and practitioners to develop their performance skills through drama-based exercises and activities. The young people collaborate with practitioners to devise theatre, film, and audio performances which are shared in front of an invited audience.

YOUNG COMPANY

Kiln's Young Company provides free weekly sessions for young people aged 16–18 who live or learn in Brent. Each session supports participants to build their confidence and creative skills through a variety of exercises and activities, whilst also enabling connection through a shared love of drama.

Over the course of the programme, the participants work with a playwright and a professional creative team to devise and perform a full-scale production which explores matters of importance to them and the communities they are a part of. The creative process aims to be reflective of professional industry practice, giving further insight into theatre making, should participants want to pursue creative careers further.

KILN COLLABORATORS

Kiln Collaborators supports young people aged 16+ with a previous connection to Kiln Theatre to develop their leadership and confidence as creative practitioners.

The participants are paid London Living Wage to attend skills-building workshops led by Kiln staff and industry professionals. They also receive mentoring and guidance on pursuing creative careers, whilst taking on assistant practitioner roles across our Youth & Pathways programme.

FULLWORKS

Fullworks is a free week-long project aimed at 14-16 year olds from Brent, which will take place in the October 2023 and February 2024

half terms. Participants will engage with five days of masterclasses led by theatre industry professionals, exploring areas such as Producing, Writing, Production, Directing and Marketing. At the end of the week, Kiln will host a creative careers networking event for young people aged 14+ from across London, which will give them the opportunity to learn more about pathways into arts industry careers. Arts industry professionals from both within Kiln and external organisations will be present at the event.
