SUPPORTED BY
MAYOR OF LONDON

Make the most of your energy

There's so much info out there about support with the cost of living – how do you know who to turn to?

For help with energy bills, speak to Energy Advice London, funded by the Mayor's office. You can get free impartial advice from expert advisors to:

- Reduce your energy bills
- Use less energy at home
- Get financial support
- Find out about local services

The service, delivered by Energy Saving Trust, could save you up to £370 a year on your energy bills. Now that's worth a quick phone call isn't it?

Call free on 0808 196 8260 or explore www.energyadvice.london for hints and tips.

*Savings from following 8 behaviour change actions throughout the year. Based on a gas heated 3-bedroom semi-detached house in GB, using an average electricity price of 34p/kWh and gas price of 10.3p/kWh. Correct as of January 2023.

Our free phone lines are open to all, Monday to Friday from 9am to 5pm (excluding bank holidays).
